Ethan,

How's things going? Hope things are going as well as expected. I'm glad you have meet some friends. Listen to the Sargents + do the best you can. Things will be alot easier after basic training. Just Remember everyone in basic training is in the same boat as you are. We miss you and hope you are ok. write soon and let us know if you got this note. Dad This is mom writing now Dad wrote the first part. Hope you are ok I hope you got your Boots fixed that worried me. I know what having feet that hurt means. We love you so much and are proud of you. go "war Dogs" Love Mom + Dad

THE ILATHERA DUCK

Vol. I, plate 93 in The Natural History of Carolina, Florida, and the Bahama Islands
Designed and engraved by Mark Catesby (1683-1749)
London, England, 1731-1743

In 1712 and again in 1722, British naturalist Mark Catesby traveled to the New World to study and observe the flora and fauna. For four years, he painted the birds and flowers of Virginia and the Carolinas until his return to England whereupon he taught himself to etch. This image is a reproduction of the original etching by Catesby in Colonial Williamsburg's collection.
